

The complete family of Marquis Who's Who[®]
Publications
Often imitated... never duplicated

Who's Who in America[®]

Who's Who in the World[®]

Who's Who in Science and Engineering[®]

Who's Who in Medicine and Healthcare[®]

Who's Who in American Law[®]

Who's Who of American Women[™]

Who's Who in American Politics[®]

Who's Who in American Education[®]

Who's Who in Finance and Business[™]

Who's Who in American Art[™]

Who's Who in the East[®]

Who's Who in the Midwest[®]

Who's Who in the South and Southwest[®]

Who's Who in the West[®]

Who Was Who in America[®]

Marquis Who's Who[®] on the Web

A. Shalyto
Federal Scientific-Industrial Center
Aurora Scientific-Industrial Union
St Petersburg,
Russia

Dear A. Shalyto

Congratulations!

It is my great pleasure to inform you that you have been chosen as a candidate for inclusion in the 2006-2007 (9th) Edition of Who's Who in Science and Engineering[®], scheduled to be published in September 2006.

This is a significant honor, an achievement in and of itself, that is afforded to very few individuals in the course of a lifetime. You are to be commended for the accomplishments and service that have brought your name to the attention of our Editorial Committee.

The best known, most trusted biographical resource on science and engineering professionals

Who's Who in Science and Engineering is the definitive biographical reference work spotlighting leaders from the wide-ranging scientific and engineering fields. The 2006-2007 Edition will continue to be the principal research tool for business people, researchers, educators and students who depend on accurate biographical information on the science and engineering world's most accomplished men and women.

To help our Marquis Who's Who editors ensure the utmost accuracy in compiling the new edition, please submit your biographical data within 10 days.

For expedited editorial review, you may submit your information online at <https://secure.marquiswhoswho.com/bio.plx>, using your VIP Code: SC098503FB to enter the secure area of our site.

Or, if you prefer, you may complete and return the enclosed biographical data form in the enclosed pre-addressed envelope, or fax it to us at 908-673-1179.

(Over, please)

www.marquiswhoswho.com

With the upcoming 2006-2007 Edition, our mission is to present a true cross-section of the science and engineering fields — profiling those people whose accomplishments are known worldwide and those who make quiet, yet richly notable contributions to their professions and to their communities.

That is why your participation today is so critical to our efforts for this next edition. To help us preserve Who's Who in Science and Engineering's unrivaled commitment to accuracy and editorial excellence — and allow enough time for our Editorial Committee to thoroughly review your submission — please return your biographical data to us as soon as possible.

A proof will be sent for your verification prior to publication.

The information you provide will be evaluated according to the selection standards that Marquis Who's Who has developed over the past 100 years of publishing biographical information. Upon approval of your submitted data, we will prepare your biography in the traditional Marquis Who's Who format and send you a prepublication proof for your verification and approval.

Again, please accept my personal congratulations on the well-earned success that has brought your name to our attention. I urge you to accept our invitation to participate in the 2006-2007 Edition of Who's Who in Science and Engineering.

Sincerely,

Robert Docherty
Editorial Director

SC/DA-T

P.S. Inclusion of your biography in Who's Who in Science and Engineering, of course, carries neither cost nor obligation of any kind. Please refer to the enclosed literature for additional information about our selection process.

If you have other questions about Who's Who in Science and Engineering, please do not hesitate to contact us, or visit us online at www.marquiswhoswho.com.
We are grateful for your participation.